CONTENTS

Preface xi

Introduction 1

1 How contemporary is prehistoric art? 5
Introduction 5
Defining visual vocabulary 6
Visual art and the brain 9
Neurophysiology 14
The brain: the way we see 15
Seeing colour 18
Seeing line 21
Seeing the face 25
Seeing the body 28
Seeing motion 32
Seeing abstract images and beyond 35
Summary 38
Bibliography 38

2 The origins of art 44
Introduction 44
Visual perception and art 44
The art object and the artist: art history 48
Giorgio Vasari 48
Johann Joachim Winckelmann 50

Contemporary approaches 51
Conceptual art 53
The art object and the artist: archaeology 56
Archaeological objects, beauty and aesthetics 58
Classification of archaeological style 59
Evolutionism 61
Visual art and archaeology 64
Summary 65
Bibliography 66

3 The gallery: unveiling visual narrative 70
Introduction 70
Self-portraiture as figurines and sculptures 71
The body 71
Agency of seeing 72
Autogenous sculpture 73
Experiential art and autogenous sculpture 78
Gallery of seeing 79
2D story-telling 79
Agency of seeing and 2D visual narrative 80
Landscape 83
Story-telling in 3D 84
Moving in the landscape 86
Viewpoint 86
Viewpoints and prehistoric rock art 90
Picture plane 93
The picture plane and prehistoric rock art 96
Agency of seeing and 3D visual narrative 99
Kinetic art 100
Kinetic art as a visual illusion 101
Movement as the superimposition of a sequence of events 101
Movement as a juxtaposition of successive events 102
Kinetic art – movement per se 104
Shape-shifting and the agency of seeing 107
Summary 110
Bibliography 110

4 Power of display: the artist and the object 114
Introduction 114
What makes an artist? 114
What is an art object? 118
The artist and the object 121

Who are the artists? 121
The art object 128
Human body as an art object 132
Summary 142
Bibliography 142

5 Embodiment and disembodiment: the corporeality of visual art and interwoven landscapes 148
Introduction 148
The concept of visual narrative 149
Climate, environment and the first European artist 151
Sculpture 155
Kostenki 1, layer 1, complex 1 157
Performativity, fragmentation and dividuality at Kostenki 1 160
Avdeevo 162
Performativity, fragmentation and dividuality at Avdeevo 165
Gagarino 166
Performativity, fragmentation and dividuality at Gagarino 168
The body from ego to allocentric 169
The brain and the artistic choices 172
The naked (and almost) undressed body 174
Fragmented bodies 177
Palaeolithic visual vocabulary 178
Substance 179
Landscape and the actor-network theory 181
The actors/figurines in the landscape 182
Figurines from Jōmon Japan 185
Materiality of fragmentation 185
Connecting the landscape 187
Summary 189
Bibliography 189

6 Portraiture and the reverence of the other 194
Introduction 194
The concept of portraiture 194
Generic portraiture 197
Referential portraiture 199
The Princes of Vix 200
Hochdorf 203
Representational portraiture 205
The Moche 206

Sacrifice Ceremony 206
Individual lives in the Sacrifice Ceremony 212
The idea materialised 214
Summary 216
Bibliography 217

7 Conclusion 220
Bibliography 231

Index 233